CLTRG Present its Inaugural Cornhole and Bar Games Tournament

Charlotte, N.C. (June 1, 2009) - Have you ever dreamed of teaming up with the Charlotte Roller Girls and battling in a winner take all competition? On Saturday, June 13, you will have your chance.

The league will host its Inaugural Cornhole Tournament and Bar Games at Mac's Speed Shop located at 2414 Sandy Porter Road in Charlotte. The festivities run from 12:00 to 6:00 p.m. and are centered around a Cornhole Tournament. Cornhole is a game in which players take turns pitching cornhole bags, or bean bags, at a raised platform with a hole in the far end. Arm Wrestling with a roller girl, Beer Pong competitions and cash raffles will also be featured.

The event is a benefit for the Charlotte Roller Girls, the Queen City's only female flat-track roller derby league. The Charlotte Roller Girls is not for-profit organization, primarily funded by monthly dues paid by its players. None of its players or staff are paid. This fund raiser will assist the league in covering its operating costs which includes hosting its home bouts at the Grady Cole Center, practice rental space and equipment.

The grand prize winners will receive the ultimate fan experience - VIP tickets to an upcoming Charlotte Roller Girls bout accompanied by a roller girl to answer any derby related questions, meet and greet with the players and behind-the-scenes access. Additional prizes include Harley-Davidson of Charlotte and Pabst Blue Ribbon gear and much more.

To register for the tournament online, visit www.charlotterollergirls.com. Individual participants (to be paired with a roller girl) cost $8, while teams of two players cost $15. Registration will also take place on the day of the event. Fans wishing to attend but not participate are welcome. There will be no cover charge.
